

Advanced Workshops

11-12 September, 2009 (a 2-day workshop)

Building a Thriving Coaching Practice!

with Frans Campher

Successful coaches tend to have answered the following questions:

- Who am I as a coach?
- How will I become the very best coach I can be?
- What is success for me?
- How will I add most value to my clients and my profession?
- How do I want to be remembered as a coach?

So why attend “Building a Thriving Coaching Practice!”?

The purpose of this workshop is to create the space and provide the support, challenge and framework in which you can set yourself up for success, whatever that means for you personally.

You'll have the opportunity to develop a clear representation of what success means for you, together with a deep understanding of how you are going to set about achieving it.

You will explore what specific beliefs, values, attitudes and motivation are needed to be successful. You'll hear from experienced and successful practitioners and share ideas with one another so that you can arrive at your own action plan to develop yourself as a coach and your coaching practice.

If your aim is to clarify further who you are as a coach, how you will add most value and as a result create a fulfilling practice with the ability to generate the income you want from coaching, you will find these two days highly motivating and beneficial.

Participants will:

- Develop a clear understanding of their purpose and motivation for their coaching practice;
- Create their own coaching identity;
- Clarify their own definition of success;
- Adopt the beliefs and attitudes necessary to be successful;
- Understand the importance of marketing and how to target the right activities;
- Become comfortable with the notion of selling their services;
- Examine their relationship with money and ensure they are well rewarded for the value they create;
- Create their own action plan;
- Network and share experiences with other like-minded people.

“The universe conspires to help those in passionate pursuit of their life’s purpose.”

“The weekend was the best value-enhancing coaching weekend I have attended. A really well laid out series of challenging and searching exercises served to bring clarity to my service offering, helping me identify even more potential client bases, how to market my services, and how much to charge for them! HEALTH WARNING: Choosing not to attend this course could severely limit your earning potential!”
